PROVOST’S WELCOME

I am thrilled in my first year as Provost to welcome all the new and continuing students to Thurgood Marshall College. The Marshall College staff and I are passionate about our mission of promoting cultural responsiveness, social equality, and civic justice, and we hope you will be as well. We encourage you to take advantage of the many opportunities Marshall College offers to contribute to this mission. We strongly believe that each of you can help to cultivate and define the world you will soon inherit. At Marshall College, we are committed not only to our mission, but also to our motto, “The Student as Scholar & Citizen” by offering our students an exceptional and well-rounded education. The diverse intellectual, social, and artistic community of students and staff at Marshall College is our greatest source of pride. I am looking forward to meeting and working with as many of you as possible. Watch for me at Ocean View, Goody’s, or around campus, and please feel free to join me for lunch, coffee, or just a chat.

DIMENSIONS OF CULTURE

What is DOC?
The Dimensions of Culture Program (DOC) is the required writing program for all first-year students at Thurgood Marshall College. It differs from other freshman composition courses in that it applies social science and humanities methods to issues of social justice in the United States. The writing instruction is integrated with critical reading, analysis, and interpretation. You will get a syllabus at the first DOC lecture every quarter which will have more detailed information. Be sure to check your UCSD email for announcements.

When is DOC?
DOC lectures meet three times a week in a lecture hall that holds a few hundred students. DOC discussion sections are much smaller, and meet once a week for DOC 1, and twice a week for DOC 2 and DOC 3. Be sure to check your Class List and Weekly Planner on TritonLink to make sure you know when and where your classes are held!

Where is DOC?
Your DOC discussion section will meet in a classroom in Sequoyah Hall and be led by a graduate student Teaching Assistant. The DOC lectures meet in various lecture halls on campus, and are led by professors. Again, check your Weekly Planner on TritonLink for specific locations. If you have any questions after reviewing the DOC website (see below), please email Sue at docinfo@ucsd.edu.

Greetings and welcome to the Thurgood Marshall College (TMC) family! My use of the word “family” is not empty rhetoric, I assure you; the Marshall College Student Affairs team is here to help you create an atmosphere that makes you feel right at home. During your time as a UC San Diego student, you will undoubtedly become busy with studying for exams, writing papers, and doing all the things it takes to achieve academic success. Although your academics are paramount, I strongly encourage you to get involved in the wonderful array of student programs, student organizations, and leadership development opportunities available at TMC. As you move forward on your academic journey, know that you are not alone. The Student Affairs team stands ready to support, assist, and guide you along the way. Welcome, again, and I look forward to seeing you thrive as a Scholar & Citizen of our community!

All the best

THURGOOD MARSHALL MENTOR PROGRAM

Unique to Thurgood Marshall College, the Marshall Mentor Program is a year-long faculty/student mentor program that provides transfer students the opportunity to work closely with faculty who will share their knowledge and experience to better equip students for study at UCSD. Faculty mentors are carefully matched with first-year transfer students based on their major, interests, field of study, and educational goals. Originally launched in 2006, the program has served over 500 students. The application process opens in October. For more information, contact the Provost Office at (858) 534-4110 or email tmcprovost@ucsd.edu.

An interactive program for transfer students to connect with faculty, staff, the university & other transfer students. Helping you transition and succeed at UC San Diego.
